

THE TALE OF THE CHEEKY MONKEY

By Kirsten Allen

Cheeky monkey, cheeky monkey!
Where on Earth could monkey be?

Cheeky monkey, cheeky monkey
Was climbing up the coconut tree!

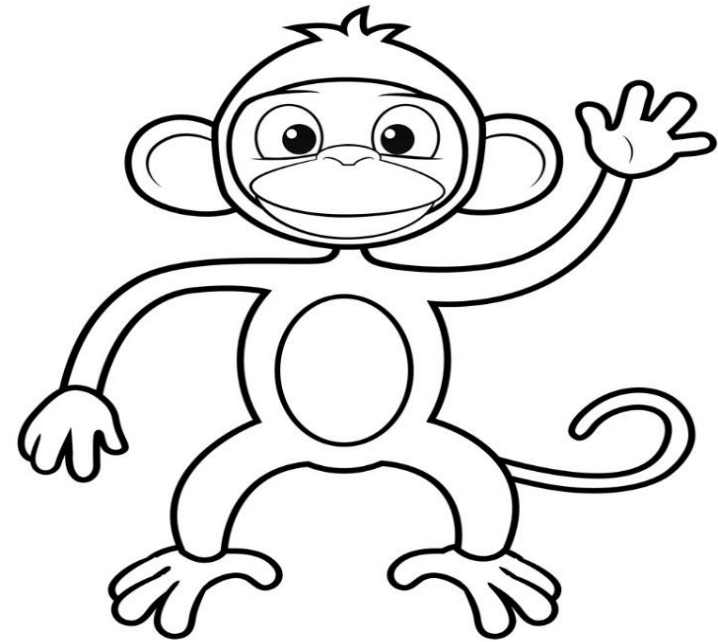

Cheeky monkey, cheeky monkey
Picked up a coconut without a sound.
Cheeky monkey, cheeky monkey
Threw the coconut on the ground!

Cheeky monkey, cheeky monkey
Had a thought and picked another.
Cheeky monkey, cheeky monkey
Then threw it at his little brother!

Cheeky monkey, cheeky monkey
Made his little brother cry.
Cheeky monkey, cheeky monkey
Said it fell out of the sky!

Mummy Monkey crossly said
It wasn't nice to hurt his brother's head!
Little brother was very sad
And cheeky monkey felt quite bad.

Sorry monkey, sorry monkey
Said he was as sorry as could possibly be.
So, his brother then forgave him
And together they played in the banana tree!

MAKE YOUR OWN PALM TREE

NEED: Scissors, several sheets of paper (the more you have the taller the tree!), sticky tape

1. Stick and Roll several layers of paper together (Can even use old newspaper!)
2. Stick edges
3. Cut part way down paper in vertical strips
4. Pull out middle. You may need to stick it to a base to keep it stable. (I've lent mine against the door! 😊)

If you're feeling creative you can even make papier-mâché coconuts and paint the trunk and leaves!
